In An Education, from director Lone Scherfig and screenwriter Nick Hornby, Carey Mulligan plays a studious schoolgirl who becomes smitten with an urbane thirty-something (Peter Sarsgaard) and his worldly cohorts—including his debonair business partner Danny (Dominic Cooper). At the '60s-set movie's New York premiere, Cooper looked just as dapper as his character, in a sleek marine wool/mohair suit by Calvin Klein Collection. The Mamma Mia! star's upcoming projects include the Stephen Frears-helmed comedy Tamara Drewe.
